

Testimonial from the visit to Malvern Wells Primary School

Kevin has the innate ability to bring the Romans alive in the classroom and put the children into the heart of his story - The Roman Citizens from Class 6B. On working with my class, he 'placed them' in the colosseum and gave them the power to make the decisions as writers and take the story into a new realm of possibilities. This approach inspired them to have a go themselves.

His book has proved to be a wonderful text for the teaching of literacy. The simple yet inspiring format has allowed my class to dip their toes into a wide range of elements of Roman life allowing them to imagine themselves driving a chariot race in the Circus Maximus and fighting the lions in the arena. The children particularly enjoyed the idea of jumping into their own pictures right into history.
